

2023 SEAoNY YOUNG ENGINEER OF THE YEAR AWARD

CALL FOR ENTRIES

The Structural Engineers Association of New York (SEAoNY) announces the Call for Entries for the 2023 SEAoNY Young Engineer of the Year Award.

In 2023, SEAoNY will highlight an engineer under the age of 36 who represents a top rising engineer in the structural engineering industry that gives back to their industry and communities. The emphasis of this award is to recognize a Young Engineer that is providing a benefit to the industry, firms, and communities.

ELIGIBILITY

You can nominate anyone who works at any level of the Structural Engineering industry who has had an impact in their respective fields or within their company, who exhibit qualities such as leadership, career progress, community involvement and creating landmark projects. You can nominate an employee of your firm, or someone who works at another firm. You can also nominate yourself (the nominator isn't made public). Independent juries of industry leaders of SEAoNY will judge the nominees based on the candidate's industry experience, leadership skills and community service. The awards will be presented during the Structural Engineering Excellence Awards on June 26th, 2023. The following are additional eligibility requirements:

- The nominee must be based in an office or location within the State of NY or NYC Tri-State Area.
- They must be UNDER 36 years of age as of January 1, 2023
- They should exhibit qualities expressed in the Young Engineer of the Year criteria: industry experience, leadership and community service.
- There is no limit to the number of entries each firm or person can submit, and there is no entry fee.
